presented to me by the document's custodian, John Smith

Documents Custodian is the person who presented the original to the notary.

Has to be a living person, not a corporation. For corporate documents you can list a name and title. For example: John Smith as CEO for ABC Inc.

and, to the best of my knowledge, that the photocopied document is neither a vital record nor a public record, certified copies, of which are available from an official source other than a notary public.

Notary Seal, is a black ink stamp which has the notary name and commission number printed on it. Make sure the commission number is readable.

It's ok for the notary to stamp the page multiple times to ensure a clear stamp is present.
